Vol. 31 — No. 1
Fall 2010

Art Room Renovations by Marilyn Honigman

This past summer Fordham Prep's art room and the surrounding space was renovated and refurbished. The art room is larger, has a new clean up area with sinks, shelving for students' projects and a storage area. There is also space for setting up a computer based graphic arts area in the future.

The newly renovated and refurbished area creates more conducive conditions for students to view their artwork, provides space for AP and other students to work in their free time on their projects and most importantly from my perspective as a teacher, a larger classroom. One of the goals of the Fine Art Department is to increase student participation in all art classes and to provide opportunities for more student involvement in the arts generally. The new space creates the opportunities for this to happen.

The art program at Fordham Prep offers students another means to understanding and learning about the world around them and at large. The process of creating an artwork is to discover and form an image, an important part of student learning and academic training. The new art room provides the environment for students to take fine art classes that will enhance their learning and open the possibility for new learning experiences.

The Fine Art Department would like to express its gratitude to Fr. Boller, Bob Gomprecht, the Board of Trustees, Ernie Harris, the architect, and Jim Pollard for all his patience and help in making sure I could set up on time for the start of the school year, the entire Physical Plant crew, the construction crew, and everyone else involved in the renovations. I'm looking forward to a creative new year.

Alumni Hall to be Dedicated on Thursday, November 4, 2010

A few years ago, the decision was made to bring a sense of the long and illustrious history of the Prep to the current students by recreating the class pictures that were found on the walls of Hughes Hall. As their Senior Internship, John O'Reilly '07 and Sean Page '07, scanned the graduate pictures from all of the Prep yearbooks to create the digital files that were used to create the class posters. Thanks to the generosity of Prep alumni, we are proud to report that the class posters for the classes of 1929 through 2010 now hang in Alumni Hall, located on the second floor of the Prep.

Thank you to the many alumni whose contributions paid for the design, printing and framing of their class posters. Thank you to Father Boller, Bob Gomprecht '65, faculty members Marilyn Honigman, Paul Homer, Christopher Lauber '79, Louis DiGiorno '88, Darlene Milone and Jim Pollard and the Physical Plant staff for all of their work in making Alumni Hall a reality.

All alumni are invited to attend the dedication of Alumni Hall at the Annual Alumni Memorial Mass and Dinner on Thursday, November 4, 2010.

To complete the collection of class posters, we are hoping to find donors who might want to contribute to the production of the following classes: 1938, 1939, 1940, 1942, 1943. If you would like to sponsor a class poster for one of the classes, please contact the Alumni Office, by e-mail at alumnioffice@fordhamprep.org or by telephone at 718-367-7500 ext. 208. The cost to produce, frame and hang class posters is $400 per poster.

The Prep’s Campaign Surpasses $23 Million At Fourth Year’s Close

At the close of the 2010 fiscal year on June 30th, Fordham Prep received a total of $23,075,383 in gifts and pledges toward its campaign goal of $23 million (over five years, 2007 – 2011). Of the total, $15,096,559 is earmarked for capital projects, including new facilities and the endowment. The remaining $7,978,824 is slated for current needs including operations and scholarships.

The success of the campaign is attributed to the leadership level giving by the Prep’s Board of Trustees and the cadre of generous alumni, parents and friends (See Campaign Honor Roll) who share Father Boller’s ambitions for the Prep to offer students first rate facilities.

Going into the last year of the campaign, the challenge is to increase support for the Prep’s Annual Giving program and its program of Annual Scholarship for deserving students. The Prep’s operating budget is brought into balance every year through gifts to the Annual Fund. Though unrestricted, these gifts are the Prep’s life blood: they keep the lights on; they ensure the quality and character of the academic programs and they reduce pressure on tuition, the key to preserving economic and cultural diversity in the student community.

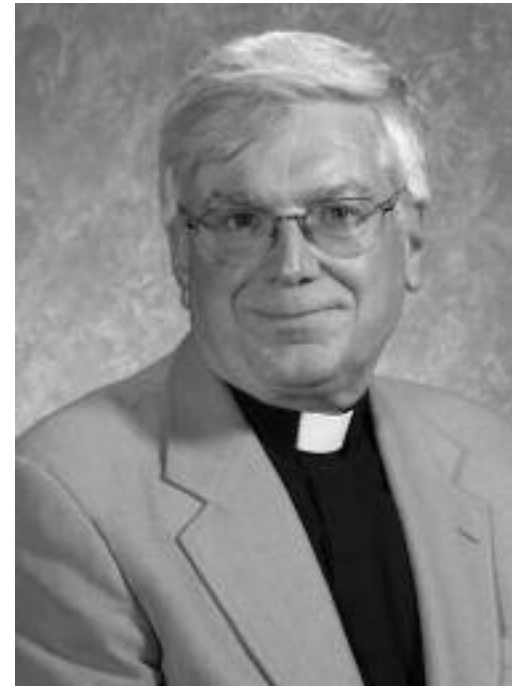

From the President's Office

The President's Report

As always, the new academic year has begun with anticipation for some and terror for others. The class of 2014 turned out in record numbers for fall sport tryouts weeks before the official start of school. Our 244 enthusiastic freshmen have passed through Orientation and are now tackling their classes and learning our traditions. They make us proud and grateful as do their older brothers, the upperclassmen, who have warmly welcomed them into the Fordham Prep community.

I'm grateful as well to our superb Faculty and Staff who engage these young men so fully and challenge and direct their growth. As the Faculty draws the curriculum review process to a close, we strive to structure our offerings in a way which will best harness and stretch the talents and abilities of students and teachers alike. We remain grateful, as well, to the parents who have entrusted their sons to us; so many of our parents are making a great sacrifice in these perilous times to provide their sons with a Prep formation. Beyond the front line here in school, we are also profoundly appreciative of the many benefactors listed in this annual report. When all of our budgets were tight and our endowment was not able to support our promised financial aid, your contributions kept us afloat. We continue to count on your partnership to sustain the mission of the Prep which has molded and formed young men for others since 1841.

The boys and the teachers are all involved 100%. Your support allows us to make it happen. Thanks so much.

The 2010 Student Commencement Speech

By John Hawley

I want to thank Fr. Boller, Mr. Gomprecht, Ms. Napoli, Mr. Ahern, the rest of the administration and all of the faculty members for their help during the last four years. We would not be here today if it were not for them. I also want to thank Mr. Bott. He is a testament to the loyalty and service that Fordham Prep inspires from its students. We are the last class to have the honor of once calling him our Dean. Lastly, I want to thank all of my classmates, friends and family members for joining us today.

Ayo Fordham Prep Class of 2010.

There are too many things I love about Fordham Prep to fit into a 5-minute speech. So don't time me Mr. Gomprecht. Only Bruce could be fast enough. There are Miguel's wraps, Shmolley, City of God, Señor Suave, Simple Stuff, Chill Swill, hallway dunk contests, doing the wave at assemblies, Ms. Andrews, Scuba Suit, Commodore Nolan, AP Macro and a million other little things that I'll never forget and that most of the parents here have no idea what I'm talking about.

But my favorite thing about Fordham Prep, the thing that I'll miss the most, is the sense of community here. I've only ever gone to one high school, but when I talk to friends from other schools, I don't think they feel the same closeness that we have at the Prep. Over the past four years, I have laughed with my classmates, I have fought with my classmates and I have cried with my classmates. Through it all, I've gained a second family of sorts. Dr. Lee is the mom, and Mr. Beck is clearly the crazy old grandpa who also happens to secretly be a genius. And all of my classmates are my brothers.

It's a word we use a lot at the Prep: brotherhood. We call the students who we go on Emmaus with "our Emmaus brothers." The slogan for the Freshmen Retreat in 2008 was "Blood Brothers." I have become brothers with my classmates, and will treasure these relationships most from my time at the Prep.

A lot of you may not know this about me, but I almost transferred out of Fordham after my freshman year. I had gone to public school my whole life. I was used to girls being in my class and going to school in Manhattan. I wasn't used to going to church with my classmates and I definitely wasn't used to wearing a shirt and tie. It seemed like everyone at Fordham was from Yonkers or Pleasantville, places I had hardly even heard of. I felt like an outsider. I chose Fordham on a whim over Stuyvesant, a large public school downtown. I met with guidance counselors during my freshman year at Fordham and was all set to transfer to Stuyvesant after the year ended. But during my freshman retreat, that all changed.

During the retreat we celebrated a late-night Mass in the University Church. In place of a traditional homily, all of the freshmen participants and their junior and senior leaders were invited up to the altar to share stories of where they saw God in their lives. While I remember being touched by what many of my classmates spoke about, it was a senior leader's story that impacted me most profoundly.

He talked to us about the death of his father and about both his family's pain and its strength. He was very emotional during the talk and had to struggle to get through it. By the time he finished, tears were streaming down his face. As he walked back to his seat, he passed the line of students waiting to share their stories. Every single student he passed reached out and gave him a pat on the back or a gentle high-five, letting him know that they were there for him. These were almost exclusively freshmen, consoling a senior. Seniors were supposed to shove freshmen in lockers and steal their lunch money, not cry in front of them. I was astonished at how open this senior could be in front of 230 freshmen, the vast majority of whom he had never met. When he got back to his seat, I watched as his fellow senior leader got up and hugged him. He collapsed into his friend, crying against his shoulder. In that moment, it hit me. This wasn't a normal high school.

For the first time, I saw the fantastic ability that Fordham Prep has to forge these special bonds of brotherhood. I had no idea how it would happen, and after going through it, I'm still not sure. But somewhere between suffering through August freshman football practices and dancing on Mr. Pettus' shoulders at Prom, the Prep became a home for me. I think the same thing has happened for many of my classmates. Maybe it happened for you during the Sophomore Discovery Retreat, or on Emmaus, or hammering nails in Tennessee. Maybe it happened for you while holding a kid's hand in Ecuador or dancing at Mom Prom. Or maybe even it happened for you doing the wave at a school assembly, or getting a friendship bracelet from Ms. Dempsey or playing Frisbee on the backfield. Whenever it happened, we have all had our own moments when Fordham Prep stopped being a normal high school and became a special place for you and me. I have learned valuable lessons here, both in and out of the classroom that I'll keep for the rest of my life. But even more importantly, I've developed relationships here with both my teachers and my classmates that I'll keep for the rest of my life.

Today marks the culmination of our time as students at the Prep. It is the end of one chapter in our lives, but that means that it is the beginning of another. Many of us will be headed off to college in the fall. We will leave behind our families, our friends, and most everything that we consider home. We are being cast off into the real world. We will make new friends and learn new lessons. We will face new challenges and we will suffer new defeats. But no matter how we may sometimes feel, we will never be alone. The Prep has become as much a part of us as we have become of it. We will always have this home to return to. We will always have this brotherhood to support us.

I consider myself the luckiest kid in the world to have come to Fordham Prep. I'm unbelievably grateful that I decided not to leave. I love Fordham so much not only because of the coaches, the teachers, and the administration, but because of you guys; because of my classmates. You guys are what have made me excited to come to school the last four years. You guys are what Fordham Prep means to me. You guys are why I love this place.

On a day when I know a lot of us are sad that it has to end, I am just happy that I got to be a part of the ride. So I want to thank you guys for allowing me to share with you today and for making the past four years the best of my life.

So here's to us, the Fordham Prep class of 2010!!!!

Gifts for Scholarships and Financial Aid at Fordham Prep

Gifts that provide scholarships and student financial aid are among the most important contributions that an alumnus or friend can make to Fordham Prep.

- Gifts for scholarships and financial aid mean important educational opportunities for students who have earned the privilege of attending Fordham Prep, but who lack the resources to accept offers of admission.
- Gifts for scholarships and financial aid help families who can muster a portion of the costs, but who cannot manage the full burden of even a modest tuition charge.
- Gifts of scholarships and financial aid allow the Prep to recruit the brightest and the best to its student ranks, in keeping with the School's 168 year-old tradition of educational excellence.
- Gifts for scholarships and financial aid preserve the tradition of ethnic and economic diversity in the student community as the keystone of Jesuit education at Fordham Prep.

Ways of Making Gifts for Scholarships and Financial Aid

1. Gifts in any amounts may be made to the Prep's General Scholarship Fund. This Fund is a central resource that the President and the Director of Financial Aid may draw from in addressing the needs and merits of individual students.
2. Gifts in the amount of the current rate of tuition ($15,060 for FY 2011) will ensure that a worthy but needy student can attend Fordham Prep for one full year.
3. Gifts (single or cumulative) in the amount of $300,000* will serve to endow a full scholarship in perpetuity at Fordham Prep. Awards from named endowed scholarship funds are the most prestigious form of recognition for students at Fordham Prep. Only students who give evidence of genuine financial need and outstanding academic performance can be the recipients of funds from one of the Prep's fully endowed scholarships.

Making a Gift of Securities

Gifts of appreciated marketable securities afford donors an attractive means of giving to Fordham Prep. Donors receive a tax deduction for the market value of the securities they give to Fordham Prep, computed on the day of transfer, while avoiding capital gains on the stock's appreciated value. It is the policy of Fordham Prep to sell all gifts of stock as soon as they have served the donor's purposes. Donors of stock are encouraged to consult their brokers or advisors.

Chaplain's Corner

by Father Donald Devine, S.J.

Talents and Limitations

I had a traumatic experience long before the word trauma was invented. I attended a large Catholic elementary school in Brooklyn. We still had a children's Mass at 9 a.m. on Sundays. On Friday afternoons, all 800 of us were herded down to the auditorium to rehearse the hymns we would be singing at our Sunday Mass.

My Mother gave violin and piano lessons. She could read music as well as play "by ear." As the oldest, she hoped that I shared her talent and interest in music. I knew I was blessed with a strong voice, and I loved to sing. As we were practicing "Holy God, We Praise Thy Name," one of my favorites, I felt a tap on my shoulder and my teacher told me "Donald, please don't sing so loudly." Eight hundred screaming kids, and I'm told very politely to please "shut up." TRAUMA??? How would you feel as a ten-year-old? Inherited family gifts? Forget it!

Counting talents can be as elusive and frustrating as catching snowflakes. Your parents, your siblings, your children are all different from you. Your fingerprints are a reminder that there will never be another you. (Some may even say, "thank heavens.") Should you envy those with different, more numerous gifts? Does a discrepancy in talents lead to jealousy, envy, bitterness, depression, discontent? Are you grateful or distressed that your neighbor has more responsibility and less leisure and quality time with his family than you have? Do you complain that he has more bills and less security than you have as well as higher taxes, credit ratings, country club fees and changes of clothing? Are you grateful that his family seems to be flourishing, happy and involved in community activities and generous in inviting you and your family to their country cabin each Summer for vacation?

God does not distribute talents evenly. In Matthew 25. 14-30, Jesus makes this point in a famous parable and Mother Teresa of Calcutta reiterates it when she says: "God does not ask most of us to do great things: He asks us to do small things with great love." If the person who had received one talent in Jesus' story had invested and used it wisely, how would the Master have responded? Right — "Well done, my good and faithful servant. Come, share your Master's joy."

Recall an earlier story of Jesus about the vineyard workers who began laboring in the late afternoon and the anger of those who had spent the entire day picking grapes in spite of being paid the agreed upon daily rate (Matthew 20. 1-16). What is the point of this parable? Jesus does not attempt to explain the landowner's action. Rather, He concludes by asking a question: "Why are you envious because I am generous?"

To marry, to be a priest, to love, to be a parent is to risk, to enter into mystery. The most commonly repeated reminder of Jesus in the gospels, (over 250 times by someone's count), is "Do not be afraid." God loves us as we are, as God made us. Love and respect yourself today. Let your children and grandchildren see you as not only a good person but a joyful person. If you are good enough for God to love, don't be more demanding of yourself than God is. Don't be concerned that your life will one day end — worry that it will never have a beginning.

Sometimes I forget to say "thank you" for gifts that I take for granted, for many things in my life that I have done nothing to deserve such as my citizenship, my faith, my health, my education, my vocation, life itself. Take some time today to express your gratitude to God for the gifts and talents that He has given you that you really don't deserve — especially the invitation to call God your Father and Jesus your Brother and all humanity your adopted brothers and sisters. Even if you feel you have only one talent, remind yourself: "use it well to say thanks be to God."

Prep Senior Designs Home for Habitat Build

Matthew Anderson '11

Appalachia Habitat for Humanity, located in Robbins, Tennessee is the second oldest Habitat affiliate in the world. Founded in 1976 it has served both Scott and Morgan County in Eastern Tennessee for over three decades, helping hundreds of families to realize their dream of home ownership. Fordham Prep has partnered with Habitat for the past eleven years, providing the labor (student, faculty, and alumni volunteers) and funding ($160,000 this past summer) to make these dreams come true. This year that partnership took on new meaning when our art teacher, Mrs. Marilyn Honigman, gave her Architectural Drawing class a unique assignment — working within parameters given to us by Habitat, Prep students were charged with the task of designing a floor plan for a four bedroom two bath home. Ten student designs were sent to Habitat. One was selected. The floor plan submitted by Matthew Anderson '11 was used for one of the three homes the Prep built this past summer. One hundred students participated in one of five one week long trips. They worked tirelessly throughout the year to solicit contributions from generous benefactors to fund the building. Matt himself enlisted the support of many family members and friends and, on one hot summer day in August he had the privilege of presenting the keys of a new home to a family of four; a home he helped to fund, to build and most uniquely to design.

The blueprints drawn by Matthew Anderson '11

If a career in architecture looms in Matt's future, he may look back at his first design as his greatest because he fulfilled the mission of every Jesuit educated student — to discover and use his talents to serve others for the greater glory of God.

The finished product which was constructed by alumni, students, faculty and friends of Fordham Prep.

Summer at the Prep

Mrs. Wanda Piñeiro, Program Director

Since 2002, gifted young men from the Bronx have been introduced to Fordham Prep through a four week program in July that promotes skill development and appreciation for cultural and educational resources in the borough. The Fordham Prep Summer Academy, directed by faculty member Mrs. Wanda Piñeiro, has given these young men the opportunity to explore Fordham Prep as a strong option for high school, as Fordham Prep may be seen as beyond their academic achievement and financial resources.

A typical day at the Academy includes instruction in language arts, mathematics, and reading, as well as the introduction and refinement of study skills, computer usage, public speaking, and athletics. Additionally, the students are taken on field trips within the Bronx and Manhattan to places such as the Bronx Zoo, the Cloisters, and the Rose Hill campus of Fordham University.

Since its inception, the Fordham Prep Summer Academy has seen substantial growth. The application process has become more competitive each year with a larger applicant pool, as well as more schools participating each year. From both the Catholic and public sector, this year's Academy class was almost forty students strong and had young men from all walks of life, something that reflects the diversity and richness of the borough the Prep calls home.

Students who have come to the Prep from the Academy have experienced tremendous success. With the first three Summer Academy classes now in college, the Prep has seen Academy alumni gone on to attend institutions such as the Catholic University of America, Loyola University of Maryland, Rochester Institute of Technology, and Syracuse University, among others.

Under the direction of Piñeiro and Vijay DaCosta '04, the Academy was instructed this year by Mr. Brian Armstrong of St. Mary School in the Bronx, Ms. Rose Irizarry of New York City Public Schools, and Prep faculty member Mr. Randall Pedro.

Additionally, the program was served by Delorian Bennett '09, Eddie Cruz-Desintonio '12, Anil DaCosta '08, and Stefen Rice '10, all of whom served as counselors to the young men of the Academy.

Higher Achievement Program 2010

By Matthew Pisciotta '10

On June 28, 2010, hundreds of parents and their sons walked through the doors of Fordham Prep to the Hall of Honor. It was Registration Day and the first day of the 34th session of the Higher Achievement Program at Fordham Prep. The Higher Achievement Program teaches rising eighth-graders Reading, Mathematics, English, and Writing and helps these students keep their study skills sharp. It was a familiar sight for me, as this year was my second year working as a tutor for the program.

I had also attended the Higher Achievement Program in 2005. I was welcoming people into the Leonard Theater that morning. One parent walked in with his son and asked me, "Do you have any advice for my son before he starts the program?" I replied to his son, "Take this program seriously. There's time for fun in the afternoon but take the classes seriously and work as hard as you can so you get the most out of the program." After registering, the students and their parents went into the Leonard Theater, where Mrs. Theresa Napoli, the Director of the Higher Achievement Program and the Assistant Principal for Academics and Student Life at Fordham Prep, gave some information to the parents and students about what to expect. Mrs. Napoli then introduced each group in alphabetical order and the teacher and tutor took their students upstairs to their respective classrooms.

About three weeks before the Higher Achievement Program started, the tutors met with Mr. John McFarland '08, the Assistant Director of the Higher Achievement Program. At this meeting, Mr. McFarland outlined our roles as tutors and gave us new information about HAP. This year, I was the tutor for Mr. Cristian Pieretti, who taught Mathematics at HAP and was the leader of the Greyhounds. As a Mathematics tutor, I would help Mr. Pieretti in any way possible, whether it was making copies, grading homework, or creating quizzes for the students. After I had graded quizzes, I created answer sheets so that the students understood what they got wrong. When our assigned groups ate lunch, the tutors would organize the lunch lines. The tutors would also eat lunch with their groups and walk around the Commons to make sure the students left their tables clean. At the lunch table, many students would ask me questions about their math class and general questions about what Fordham Prep was like.

After lunch and all classes were over, the afternoon sports session would begin. Prep teacher Mr. Matthew Distefano was the coordinator for sports this year at HAP. The tutors would serve as the referees for sports such as wiffle-ball, dodgeball, soccer, kickball, football, floor hockey, and basketball. There were also special programs for the students to participate in, such as Art (organized by Prep Art Teacher Mrs. Marilyn Honigman), Music (organized by former Prep Teacher and current D.J. Mr. Robert Moschetta '90), Science (organized by Prep Teacher Mr. John Haag '84), the Baseball Clinic (organized by Prep Athletic Director Mr. Robert McLaughlin and Prep Teacher Mr. Eugene Calamari '82), Ropes Course (organized by Prep Teacher Ms. Arianne Dempsey) and Track and Field (organized by Prep Teacher Mr. Brian Carney). After the sports sessions concluded, the groups went back to their rooms where they would check in for 2:45 dismissal.

Before everyone knew it, five weeks of HAP flew by. As it does every year, the 2010 session of the Higher Achievement Program ended with a Mass in the University Church and a graduation ceremony in the Leonard Theater. During the graduation ceremony, I decided to reflect back on my experiences at HAP when I attended the program in 2005. I heard about the program from my 7th grade teacher, who suggested that I go. I arrived my first day feeling nervous because I didn't know what to expect. I had never heard of Fordham Prep before. I was amazed when I walked through the doors for the very first time and I immediately loved the school. I look back at my HAP experience with fond memories. I met a lot of people, some of whom would become my friends at Fordham Prep. By the end of the program, I decided that I wanted to attend high school at Fordham Prep.

I just couldn't imagine myself at any other high school. I am absolutely certain that if I never attended the Higher Achievement Program back in 2005, I would never have attended Fordham Prep and been a proud member of the Fordham Prep Class of 2010.

Lacrosse Alumni Game

by James DeLucia '09

Sunday June 13, 2010 marked a day not of rest, but of reunion. Unlike the traditional Fordham Prep Lacrosse Alumni game, this year the Prep teamed up against the alumni of another school – the Iona Prep Gaels. Celebrating the annual Fordham Prep Lacrosse program's Alumni Game in conjunction with the Gaels at Iona Prep proved to be an experience worthy of recognition.

With just under twenty alumni making up Fordham Prep's roster and twenty-five for the Gaels, the players left everything they had on the field, including the seemingly not so distant memory of what it felt like to run up and down a full field once again. Peter Lisanti from the class of '93, Tom Maxwell '95 and Bart Gel Bargiel '97 were the Ram's most senior alumni and the team encourages more and more players from older classes to participate each year.

Taking on the Gaels' group of alumni, many of which were recently graduated players of both the 2009 and 2010 CHSAA State Class AA Championship teams, proved to be a bigger challenge than many of the Prep's alumni recalled from their seasons past. Though the score of 18-11 Gaels was stuck on the scoreboard as that fourth quarter buzzer sounded, the amount of laughs, jokes, and stories shared were all countless; the level of camaraderie from the Prep's squad was limitless and made a victory out of the day that no scoreboard could reflect.

Hosting not only the field, but also a barbeque after the game, the FP Lacrosse program would like to thank Iona Prep for its hospitality, most notably IP Varsity Coach Rick Trizano. Though two greater rivals could not have been pinned against each other that Sunday morning, it's worthy to mention the few penalty flags flung, the constant and selfless substituting of player for player, and the appreciation from both teams of a good behind-the-back shot.

All FP alumni present would agree that the game of lacrosse, coupled with the Prep's rich and distinct alumni community, made for what was an unforgettable experience. Those four short quarters of the game echoed the values of camaraderie, teamwork, and a shared mission that those four short years at Fordham Prep first inspired within us. To live out those values, both on the field and off, is a goal that the FP Lacrosse program knows is worth celebrating each and every year and encourages all lacrosse alumni out there to sign up for next year's game.

They can contact present head Coach Len De Lucia at mayfairident-tal@aol.com for further information.

Father John Halligan '47 by Prep Faculty Member Pierre Chavez

John Halligan, S.J., class of 1947, went to Ecuador in the 1960's expecting to work in the small indigenous communities that existed outside the major cities. However, in 1964 Halligan was asked by his Jesuit Superior to study the growing problem of street children in Quito, Ecuador's capital city. In his study, Halligan realized that many of these street children were working, mostly as shoeshine boys, to earn some money to bring home to their families. This marks the beginning of El Centro del Muchacho Trabajador (The Working Boys' Center), Halligan's mission for over 45 years.

The Working Boys' Center began modestly in the attic of Gonzaga Jesuit High School next to the historic La Compañia de Jesus Church working with a couple hundred boys. With the help of the Sisters of Charity of the Blessed Virgin Mary, countless volunteers, and many generous donations, the center has grown and helped thousands. The Working Boys' Center states that it is a "family of families." The center does not only provide meals, education, and medical and dental care for the working boys, but all members of their families at three separate sites in Quito. They have adult education classes, child care programs, assistance in building houses, and small business loans for graduates of their many technical education programs.

This year Fr. Halligan celebrates his 80th birthday. In recognition of his nearly fifty years of service to the children and families of Ecuador, the many supporters of the Working Boys' Center have designated this the "Year of the Padre," honoring him with numerous celebrations in the United States and Ecuador.

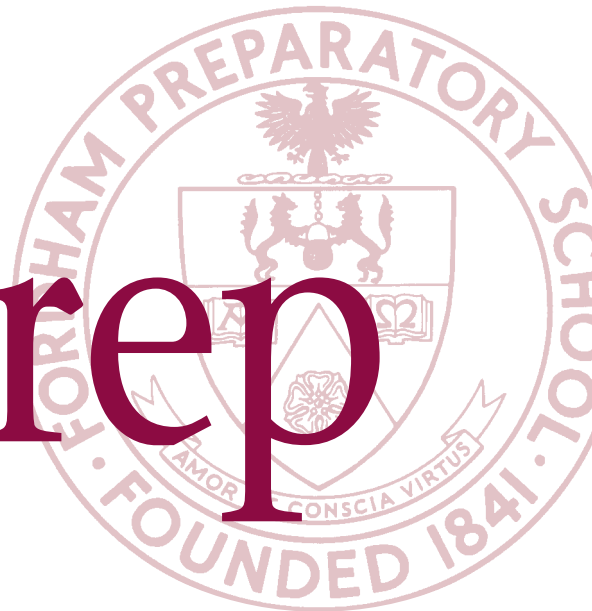

This past summer 13 Prep students and two faculty members had the honor of visiting the Working Boys' Center. While at the center the boys spent time in the technical education workshops, helped out in the special education program, cleaned out classrooms and the nursery, and shadowed year-long volunteers. They also had the chance to visit the neighborhoods and homes of some families and to help in different construction projects including clearing and leveling land for new homes and building a retaining wall at a church. The Prep students experienced Ecuadorean culture as they traveled throughout the city of Quito and its outskirts visiting different landmarks and tasting Ecuadorean cuisine. However, the best experience for all was the many connections they made with the children and families they got to know while playing and working with them. The Fordham Prep community looks forward to returning the Working Boys' Center next summer and helping Fr. Halligan with his work.

Attention Prep Hockey Alumni

The Fordham Prep Hockey Program will initiate a new tradition to strengthen the bonds between the current teams and alumni of the Program. On Friday 26 November, the annual Varsity Homecoming game (which has become quite an exciting event) will be combined with the annual Alumni Game and Hockey Hall of Fame presentation (formerly held in June). The festivities will begin at 5:15pm. Alumni, parents, friends - get ready to be part of a great new tradition!

More exciting news about the Fordham Prep Hockey Program – Both the JV and Varsity teams have been given the opportunity to play an afternoon doubleheader vs. St. Anthony's at Nassau Coliseum. The date has been set for Saturday 15 January, with the JV facing off at 12:45 and the Varsity puck-drop at 3pm, followed by the Islanders-Sabres game that evening. More information about both of these events will be posted on fordhamprephockey.com as the summer progresses.

What to do with that old “Stuff” from your Fordham Prep Days?

If you have jackets, yearbooks, letters, posters, clothing, trophies, sweaters, diplomas or other Prep memorabilia that you no longer want or are using, please consider sending them to the Alumni Office.

YEARBOOKS AVAILABLE

Fordham Prep has many copies of old yearbooks. Let us know if you lost yours and would like a replacement. Plans are in the works to scan all old yearbooks for a digital file. Contact yearbook moderator Christopher Lauber '79 (lauberc@fordhamprep.org) for details.
